Hoover Commission Recommends Most Sweeping Remodeling Plan Thus Far Submitted

CENTERS AUTHORITY

Washington, March 7.—(AP)—The Hoover commission today recommended handing all the government's controls over the nation's transportation—railroads, highways, planes and ships—to the Commerce department.

In perhaps the most sweeping remodeling plan of the 10 it has thus far sent to Congress, the commission urged moving into that one department all or part of eight other government agencies, including the Coast Guard and the business activities of the Maritime Commission.

It would center on one official the responsibility for planning the peacetime growth and the wartime mobilization of the country's transportation.

That broad authority would strip executive powers from several major agencies, but would affect only indirectly their power to grant routes and fix rates.

However, the commission said, under the new setup a proposed airline would be weighed not only against other airlines but against truck, railroad and shipping lines with which it might compete.

The report was sprinkled with dissents. But Hoover, who was secretary of commerce under Presidents Harding and Coolidge, was on the majority side in all the recommendations.

The report proposed the following shifts of agencies into the Commerce Department:

One independent agency, the National Advisory Committee on Aeronautics, with nearly 7,000 workers, to be absorbed bodily.

From Treasury—the Coast Guard, which the report said is "obviously misplaced" now, also certain marine duties of the Customs Bureau if a study shows such a merger be desirable.

From the Federal Works agency—the entire public roads administration.

From the Maritime Commission—shipping operations and executive duties, including the buying, selling, and subsidizing of ships and the making of loans to shipping companies.

From the executive office of the president—the office of Defense Transportation.

From the Interstate Commerce Commission—all truck and bus safety operations, a number of railroad functions, including safety measures, the making of railroad merger plans, and "car service." The last would give commerce authority to deal with critical shortages of railroad cars.

From the Civil Aeronautics Board—the duties of issuing and enforcing air safety rules. A new "Bureau of Civil Aviation" would be set up in commerce, to embrace all the department's aviation activities.

From Interior Department—All commercial fisheries activity, now part of the Fish and Wildlife Service. "A Bureau of Fisheries" would be one of the most important industrial and commercial agencies in the government," the report said.

As projected by the commission, the Commerce Department would be split into two main operating branches.

Housewife Winner Of $35,250 Jackpot

Philadelphia, March 7.—(AP)—The nine-room row house of Benjamin Hubert, pensioned machinist, is the focal point of interest today of friends, curiosity seekers and would-be buyers.

Hubert's 58-year-old wife, Julie, won a $35,250 jackpot in prizes last night by correctly identifying the mystery tune on the American Broadcasting Company's "Stop the Music" program.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert, Negroes, lived in Wilmington, Del., for 27 years before moving to Philadelphia.

Within a matter of minutes after the Huberts identified the mystery tune as "The Navy and The Army, The Army and The Navy," she was deluged with telephone calls and a mob outside the house.

The crowd became so large at one point that several police cars were dispatched to the scene.

Floods Make Many Homeless In West Iowa And Nebraska

By The Associated Press
One man was dead and two university students were missing today as floods inundated or threatened hundreds of homes in western Iowa and Nebraska.

At Missouri Valley, Ia., more than 1,000 persons were homeless and disaster threatened some towns along the Missouri and Big Blue rivers in Nebraska.

The dead man was George W. Johnson, about 77, who was drowned in his flooded Missouri Valley, Ia., home. The missing are Thomas M. Nolan, 22, and Charles Wer-

Sketches at right show how policemen rescued Mrs. Lillian Paul, 39, as she dangled by her coat from the eighth floor window (circled) of the Wacker Hotel in Chicago. Sketch 1 depicts Policeman Francis Sherrier leaning out of an adjoining window trying to reach Mrs. Paul, caught by the window which fell as she leaped after leaving a suicide note. Then (sketch 2), policemen Henry Dahm and Leonard Anderson hold Sherrier's legs as he reaches out for the woman. A hotel employee (sketch 3) raised the window and Mrs. Paul and patrolman Sherrier were hauled back to safety.

Sec. Royall Is Believed Next Cabinet Member To Resign

Key West, Fla., March 7.—(AP)—Presidential confidants disclosed today that Secretary of the Army Kenneth C. Royall is the next high ranking administration official to go.

These reputable but unquotable-by-name officials said Royall will step out within ten to twenty days. His successor has not yet been decided upon, they reported.

Meanwhile, the president settled down to the enjoyment of a fortnight's vacation at this naval submarine base—his sixth trip to Florida. He flew in yesterday, landing at the Boca Chica airport, eight and a half miles from here.

He will fly to Orlando tomorrow and drive to Winter Park where he will speak and receive a degree from Rollins College.

His impromptu talk will be made some time after noon.

At least two highly placed presidential intimates said Mr. Royall is resigning.

They said he will follow Secretary of Defense Forrestal into retirement despite Mr. Truman's assertion at his last news conference that Royall was not quitting. These intimates emphasized that the president meant that Royall was not stepping out at that time.

Col. Louis Johnson, an old pal of Mr. Truman's and one of the chief fund raisers of 1948 campaign is succeeding Forrestal March 31. He may fly down here for a conference before Mr. Truman returns to Washington March 19 for the annual dinner of the White House Photographers Association.

It was reported by the President's associates that he wants John L. Sullivan to remain as secretary of the navy and W. Stuart Symington to stay as secretary for air.

These same sources said that other changes in Mr. Truman's administration will come gradually.

Cardinal Refuses to Soften His Stand In Cemetery Strike

New York, March 7.—(AP)—Francis Cardinal Spellman refused today to soften his stand toward striking gravediggers at Calvary Cemetery despite the pleas of their wives.

"We got no place and are discouraged and disgusted," Mrs. Sigmond Czack said after a conference with the cardinal.

She was one of a committee of five women named to represent families of the 240 strikers. They to give him the strikers' side of the story.

"The cardinal promised us nothing," Mrs. Czack continued. "He wants the men to go back to work as individuals, not as union men, and said he would not allow members of the strikers' committee to go back to work because they are ringleaders."

"The cardinal was adamant, promising nothing except that the strikers would return with a small increase but not as union men. He wants no part of the union."

A hundred young priests and seminary students went back to Calvary Cemetery in Queens today for their fourth day of grave digging after a Sunday holiday. The men, supervised by the cardinal, dug more than 250 graves in three days last week.

The priests and seminarians are replacing 240 strikers, members of the CIO Cemetery Workers Union, an affiliate of the Food, Tobacco and Agricultural Workers Union.

The cardinal claims the parent union is "Communist-dominated," and the strikers have voted to seek to end the affiliation. The strike started over a pay dispute almost eight weeks ago, and about 1,000 bodies piled up at the cemetery.

Red Cross disaster relief headquarters in New York City today announced that it had received a request from the cardinal to provide food and clothing for the strikers and their families.

The cardinal said he was willing to accept the offer, but only if the strikers agreed to return to work immediately.

The strikers' committee said it would consider the offer, but only if the cardinal agreed to meet with them to discuss the terms of the strike.

CHARGES U. N. COUNCIL MAY SHIELD SPYS

Senator Mundt Delares People Fured By State Department Are Employed There

LATE DEVELOPMENTS

Washington, Mar. 7.—(AP)—Congress moved today to bolster the United States' spy network abroad in the midst of fresh demands for a crack down on spying in this country.

The spy developments temporarily shifted interest on Capitol Hill from the senate filibuster against stopping filibusters, now in its second week.

Southern orators were silent as the senate called a recess out of respect for the late Senator J. Melville Broughton (D-N. C.), who died suddenly of a heart attack yesterday. Broughton was to have made his first filibuster speech today.

The house was busy on the secrecy-cloaked bill to shore up the nation's spy system.

Washington, March 7.—(AP)—Senator Mundt (R-SD) said today the United Nations has hired some people who were fired by the State Department as security risks.

Names of several such persons, Mundt said, are in the files of the House Un-American Activities Committee. The Senator is a former member of the committee.

For some time, the committee has had lists of persons trying to find out whether foreign governments have been using the United Nations as a shield for spying on this country.

His remarks were another aftermath of a spy case which broke over the week-end. It developed this way:

Judith Coplon, a Justice Department employee and Valentine A. Gribich, a Russian engineer on the U. S. staff, were arrested by the FBI in New York Friday night. They were accused of stealing American secrets involving security data.

In Miss Coplon's purse the FBI found a package of typewritten summaries of information from confidential papers.

Attorney General Clark announced the arrests Saturday.

A few hours later it became known that the Un-American Activities Committee had received a report from an investigator in September, 1946, mentioning Miss Coplon and several other persons in the office where she worked.

The report said this was the office of Alien Registration. However, a Justice Department official said she was assigned to the Foreign Agents Registration Division only about 18 months ago. She previously worked in the anti trust division in New York.

The report was drafted by a committee investigator on the basis of information obtained by a former employee in the office. It said that everything pro-Soviet was praised in the division and anything anti-Russian was condemned.

Representative Nixon (R-Calif.), a committee member, took a look at the report. He said the Justice Department had been informed of what the committee had learned but did nothing about it and blocked.

TWO ARE KILLED IN PITTSBURGH ACCIDENTS

Pittsburgh, Mar. 7.—(AP)—Two persons were killed on Pittsburgh streets yesterday as their autos crashed into poles. Three of the five hurt in the mishaps are in serious condition.

Mrs. Minetta Julius, about 35, of nearby Neville Island, was killed last night as the car in which she was driving struck a pole on West Carson street.

Mrs. Julius' husband, Paul P. Julius, 36, his brother, Joseph H. 30, and the latter's wife, Agnes, 29, were injured seriously. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Julius reside in nearby McKees Rocks.

Edward Rice, 22, of Pittsburgh, met death early yesterday as the car in which he was an occupant hit a pole near Shadey and Fifth avenues. Two persons injured in the accident are in fair condition.

Strange Story Unfolded In Bedford County "Hex" Case

Altoona, March 7.—(AP)—A reopened grave, buried U. S. army uniform—a pinch of salt cast on a corpse.

Those were some of the details of a story unfolded here yesterday—a story centering around a "hexed" widow who is reported recovering from a "spell" cast on her by her dead soldier husband.

The story came to light with the disclosure by Bedford county authorities that they had granted permission for the re-opening of the grave of Pvt. Reuben Rock, 29, who died last Jan. 13 of tuberculosis.

Arthur Dively, father of Rock's widow, attractive Mrs. Rosella Rock, 22, said that a ceremony performed at the grave Feb. 22 freed his daughter of the "spell" that had brought her close to a nervous breakdown.

MOSCOW JOB SHIFT CAUSES SPECULATION

Foreign Observers See Possibility of New Efforts To Arrange Big Four Council Meeting

CAPITAL IS PUZZLED

Moscow, March 7.—(AP)—Foreign observers here speculated today whether the dramatic shift in Soviet foreign ministers might bring about new efforts to arrange a meeting of the Big Four Council of Foreign Ministers.

Tied in with this question was discussion of whether the appointment of Andrei A. Vishinsky as successor to V. M. Molotov might lay the groundwork for another try at solving the Berlin problem and the whole German question.

Molotov handled the last top-level discussions of the Berlin situation in Moscow last summer, but Vishinsky was present at most of the four-power meetings.

(The Russians have made a meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers on all German problems one of the conditions for lifting their Berlin blockade.)

The appointment of Andrei A. Gromyko to the second spot in the foreign ministry meanwhile was viewed as an indication no sweeping change in Soviet policy is in prospect.

The announcement of Gromyko's promotion early yesterday caused no surprise at the U. S. embassy where the opinion already had been expressed that he was a likely candidate to step into Vishinsky's spot.

Washington, March 7.—(AP)—Western governments still puzzling over the Moscow foreign ministry shakeup are acting speedily to bolster their "frontier" against Communism.

The main conviction in Washington, London and Paris is summed up by diplomats this way: Whether Moscow's diplomacy toward the west gets tougher, softer or continues unchanged the primary responsibility of the western powers now is to be prepared to meet any contingency.

Actually many responsible authorities here believe that the removal of V. M. Molotov from the foreign ministry and his replacement by Andrei Vishinsky, a man of lesser standing in Russia, means that the Soviets are about to intensify their internal programs and let up on Communist expansion temporarily. This may mean a new period of extreme Russian isolationism.

It may also mean further Communist crackdowns on the satellite countries of eastern Europe to secure absolute control over the governments and peoples of the region. Speculation continues here that Moscow may be moving gradually toward absolute absorption of some of the eastern European countries into the Soviet Union.

In addition, a few highly placed informants privately believe that Premier Stalin and his associates in the politburo may be preparing for a spring showdown with Marshal Tito over control of Yugoslavia.

WINTER TURNS COLD SHOULDERS ON SPRING

Pittsburgh, Mar. 7.—(AP)—Winter turned a cold shoulder on spring's efforts to crash the weather party today.

Temperatures dropped to an overnight low of 20 degrees in downtown Pittsburgh and 16 degrees at the Allegheny county airport. The newest cold snap was ushered in with snow flurries yesterday. The district enjoyed balmy weather Saturday—with thundershowers.

U. S. Cruiser Loaned Russia Is Returning

Washington, March 7.—(AP)—The American cruiser, Milwaukee, leaving a harbor and on its way home, is due home today after nearly five years duty in the Russian navy.

Manned by a Soviet crew, the 26-year-old warship is scheduled to be returned to the United States Navy in a brief ceremony at Lewes, Delaware.

The old Milwaukee is the first of 536 American naval vessels loaned the Russians during the war to come back to the United States.

As the 7,050-ton vessel neared American shores, the State Department was reported putting the final touches to a new note to Moscow demanding return of at least 31 other vessels—28 frigates and three icebreakers.

The Soviet government promised in writing last December to return these 31 ships—after six vigorously worded American demands—but thus far has failed to keep this promise.

The Russian crew, estimated at around 800 men, is expected to be returned to Russia promptly. A Russian vessel is accompanying the Milwaukee on the voyage to serve as transportation back to Russia for the crew.

Appeal For Red Cross Mailed Nearly 10,00 In The County

Nearly 10,000 persons in Warren county received an appeal from the Warren County Chapter of the American Red Cross today on behalf of the annual Red Cross Fund which is $13,825.00.

The annual drive of the Red Cross was well publicized in most of the churches of the county yesterday on "Red Cross Sunday." Many of the business places in Warren have windows and displays pertaining to the Red Cross and everything that can be done will be done this week to make people conscious of the Red Cross and its need for funds.

The mail appeal which was sent to 9,800 individuals set forth the aims and activities of the Warren County Chapter and in a personal letter, signed by J. H. Alexander, Campaign Chairman, set forth the objectives of the drive and requested that each recipient make his or her donation both promptly and generously.

Those in charge of this year's campaign for the Warren County Chapter again stress that there will be no calls made by solicitors on behalf of the campaign. There will be no collections taken in places of business or in shops and other industries. Contributions can be made only by mail and on the pledge card which accompanied each letter. A return envelope, for which no postage is needed, was included in every letter mailed. Persons who may not have received a campaign letter are requested to mail their check direct to Red Cross Headquarters, 404 Market Street. Checks should be made out to Paul E. Harrington, Treasurer, Warren County Chapter, American Red Cross.

Upon receipt of each person's check or cash the local Chapter will mail each individual a receipt and his or her campaign pin, indicating a pledge has been made to this year's Red Cross Campaign.

Sizzling Fight Over Soft Drink and Gasoline Taxes Boiling Toward a Showdown

Harrisburg, March 7.—(AP)—A sizzling fight over gasoline and soft drink taxes boiled toward a showdown today in the general assembly—and getting hotter all the time.

A bi-partisan group of the senate finance committee opened the week-of-decision with a meeting for the avowed purpose of trying to find a substitute for the grimly-disputed pop levy.

The senate highways committee arranged a session about the same time, to consider the equally bitterly contested measure to increase the state's gasoline tax one cent a gallon to five cents.

The two taxes are the most controversial of Governor James H. Duff's $438,000,000 program to finance the commonwealth's budget for the next two years.

All the tax bills passed the House on Feb. 15, the gasoline and soft drink levies by a narrow margin. They since have been stalled in the Senate, although Republicans dominate the Senate as they do the House. The governor insists that he will not approve.

A fight inside the Republican party over the tax program broke spectacularly into the open over the weekend with an exchange of "gloves-off" statements between Governor Duff and Senator George N. Wade (R-Cumberland).

The commission had called the hearing with dealers and producers to consider a milk price cut of one and one-half cents in the two areas, effective March 16. It would drop the minimum retail price from the present 22 cents to 20 and one-half cents.

However, an eleven hour appeal for another half-cent slash came last night from the city of Pittsburgh.

Assistant City Solicitor Albert (Turn to Page Six)

The senate finance committee today approved an administration bill to raise the state's gasoline tax one cent a gallon to five cents. The action represented a big hurdle in moving the hotly-disputed gasoline bill to a vote in the senate. Meantime, a bi-partisan group of the senate finance committee considered the possibility of substituting other taxes for the grimly-fought soft drink tax but reached no conclusions.

Wade took exception to a statement Duff made last week, criticizing lawmakers who advocate freeing the state's 10 toll bridges but oppose tax legislation.

The tax bills, in addition to the gasoline and soft drink levies, raise for another two years present temporary taxes on corporations, utilities, manufacturing, cigarettes, liquor and beer.

The tax program originally was (Turn to Page Six)

NOTED FLIER AFTER SMALL PLANE RECORD

Brisk Tail Wind Speeds Distance Aviator Toward New Mark From Honolulu to New York

IS AHEAD OF SCHEDULE

BULLETIN
San Francisco, March 7.—(AP)—Distance flier Bill Odom, riding a strong tailwind on his record-seeking non-stop flight from Honolulu to New Jersey, was reported only 750 miles out of the California coast on 12:30 a. m. (Eastern Standard time) today, "away ahead of schedule."

The late report came from radio station KGO, whose beam Odom is following into San Francisco. He is being pushed along by a 25-mile an hour tailwind and unlikely has avoided stormy weather north of his course, which might have detoured his flight.

A Coast Guard PBV took off from Alameda Air Station this morning to escort Odom in and is expected to meet him at 1:15 p. m. (EST).

San Francisco, March 7.—(AP)—A brisk tail wind speeded distance flier Bill Odom toward the California coast today on his record-seeking light plane flight from Honolulu to New Jersey. He said he was ahead of schedule and past the worst of a Pacific storm.

His latest report showed him well past the half way mark on his long ocean hop. It was estimated that he was less than 1,000 (statute) miles from San Francisco, already having flown more than 1,300 miles toward the slightest lurch.

At 10:33 a. m. Eastern Standard Time, he reported the following to the Airways Communications Service:

"Believe I am ahead of my flight plan. The sun has come up and there is a southwest 25 mile per hour wind on the surface. The sea is boiling but that is okay with me, because that means a tailwind."

"I am out of the worst part of the frontal storm."

The frontal storm he referred to was north of his course and he apparently will have no trouble with it.

An escorting B-17 turned back to Hawaii at the 1,000 mile mark after reporting Odom was at 7,500 feet and finding the weather much better than it was in his last attempt to set a new small plane distance record. He was forced down in that attempt on Jan. 13 at Oakland by bad weather over California's mountains after flying 2,401 miles—a new record in its class.

Odom planned to ride the beam of radio station KGO in San Francisco to the west coast. Another military plane from the coast was scheduled to pick him up about 1,000 miles from San Francisco.

The balding, 29-year-old flier eased his gasoline-heavy Beechcraft off the runway at 7:05 last night (12:05 a. m. EST today). Assured favorable tailwinds most of the way, he expected to be over San Francisco in 17 hours, on the ground at Teterboro in 32.

The single-engine craft, a perfect takeoff—skillfully nursed by the man who flew solo around the world in the record time of 73 hours, five minutes, 11 seconds in 1947.

With that, Odom's Homberg-topped head disappeared inside the cabin of the "Walkiki Beech" and he was away. Matching his new gray hat was his gray plaid suit—his lucky suit, the one he wore on his world-circling jaunt.

Odom opened the throttle. The 185-horsepower engine pulled the 3,779-pound load into the air far short of the end of the runway. The plane carried 288 gallons of gasoline—28 more than on the earlier flight. The total load was well under the 3,862 pounds allowed for the light plane class.

97-Year-Old Cherokee Indian Is On Warpath In Tennessee

Waverly, Tenn., Mar. 7.—(AP)—Old Chief Eagle Feather, who admits he tried to scalp his wife, is on the warpath again.

The white-haired 97-year-old Cherokee warrior is out for revenge, but he's not using a knife this time. It's all legal.

The chief, it seems, thinks the wrong person was put in jail. Sheriff Trent Westbrook says the chief believes his wife, 69-year-old Princess Silverheels, should be the one behind bars.

Westbrook says the chief was put in Jail Thursday after he went on the warpath and had to be restrained from lifting his wife's scalp with a knife.

Princess Silverheels later withdrew the charge of assault but the chief said he wanted revenge.

Shortly after his release yesterday from the county jail the chief asked to see the sheriff.

Wagie Feather said his wife was hiding stolen property. Westbrook related "corn" to be exact.

A search of the princess' house revealed a cache of the grain.

Westbrook said.

It was Silverheels turn to think about languishing in jail. She was charged with concealing stolen property, but was released on her own recognizance until a preliminary hearing today, Westbrook said.

Kane Man Is Sentenced in Wife's Death

Kane—Alvin A. Smiley, 26, acquitted January 25 on a charge of murder in the fatal shooting of his wife, Friday was sentenced to two years imprisonment on an involuntary manslaughter charge to which he pleaded guilty.

The wife, Thelma, 19, was killed in the Smiley car, two miles north of Kane, when a rifle was discharged—accidentally, the husband insisted.

Judge Charles G. Hubbard also directed that Smiley's hunting license be revoked for five years and that he pay costs. He had been arrested two days after the murder trial under a game law section dealing with wounding a human by mistake.

In a plea for clemency, Attorney Ralph DeCamp cited physical difficulties of the accused man and the school record showing he had been retarded in every grade. He asked for an "opportunity and chance to attend a veterans' hospital to receive medical attention and research."

District Attorney Shattuck charged the death was due to "rash negligence," and said he "never had a case to touch this one for rashness—reckless disregard for life."

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

The proposed Soldiers' Bonus payment is a matter which will affect all of our lives, not only this year and next, but for some time to come.

If someone were holding $500 out to you, wouldn't it be your natural reaction to grab it? I am sure mine would be. The only trouble is that in the world as it is today you just plan don't get handed something for nothing. If someone tries to sell you a diamond ring for a few dollars, you may feel sure that the ring either came from Woolworth's or that it is stolen goods. If someone at your front door hands you a "free sample" of their soap, or their hair restorer or their bottle perfume, you can rest assured that he expects to sell you a bill of goods, whose price will include recompense for your "gift".

It is just as true (maybe more so) in the field of politics. We all have a deep feeling of gratitude to the young men and women who were in the armed services of the United States during the World War 2, and we want them to know that we appreciate what they did. Will the Soldiers' Bonus do what we want it to? Or will it saddle those we want to help as well as the rest of the state, with an intolerable tax burden for many years to come?

Many of the Vets feel that we don't know what we are getting into. They point out that the most any War Vet can receive is $500 and that many will get only $200, $100 or $50, but that when the money is paid it will cost each vet, representing the head of the average family, more than $600. It isn't just a simple matter of handing each soldier or sailor his cash. Not by any means. There are the administrative salaries for those who will see that the job is done right; there are the hundreds of persons who must be added to the state salary rolls to figure how much each person receives, and to do the bookkeeping on the tons of paper which must be bought; there are the thousands of letters which must be written regarding claims.

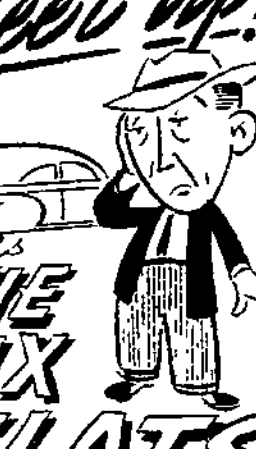

Many veterans say in effect: "Sure, I'll take the cash if it is handed to me; I might just as well because I'll have to pay for it anyway. But it isn't good sense. I'd rather see the state take good care of the unfortunates in the hospitals and the others who are unable to work. They are the ones who need the money and help. We can do that and it won't cost all of us $30 a year for the next twenty years, as it will if we all get paid."

Very truly yours, J. B. P.

KEEP OUR RED CROSS STRONG

Each of us should have a special reason to contribute generously to the Red Cross Fund this week. The goal is $13,825.00. Part of this sum will be left right here and spent in Warren county for Warren County folks.

Warren County has always had an active and efficiently staffed and managed Red Cross Chapter. Through two wars and in periods in between the Warren County Chapter of the Red Cross has been among the most efficient of Chapters in Pennsylvania with help when and where help was wanted and needed.

None of us could enjoy contemplating a sudden emergency which found the local or national organization without funds to render prompt and efficient help. In the recent devastating midwestern blizzards the Red Cross was first to move in, even ahead of the Army, with relief for human suffering. The Red Cross is always ready and it is we in Warren county, who each year give to the local and national organization, that help keep it ready.

The lonely soldier stationed far from home, and there are many, the bed ridden veteran, the women and children in war-ravaged countries who are wearing Red Cross garments this winter all can testify to the humanitarian program of this really essential organization.

During the coming week you will have your opportunity to contribute. Do so, unselfishly and generously. There will be no solicitor call on you. But a letter and folder with pledge card has been sent to some 11,000 persons in Warren county. Don't ignore it.

It is not a question as to whether you are able to give but rather: "How much can I give?" Let your answer be prompt and generous.

Whether or not Warren will have an Independence Day celebration this year will probably be decided at a meeting this evening attended by a Junior Chamber of Commerce Committee and interested men who have been associated with such events in past years. The way folks turned out for the Pennsylvania Week observance last September leaves no doubt but what people of the area love to celebrate. Special weeks this summer have already been planned in Clarendon, Sheffield and Youngsville.

According to the Army Ordnance people, that rocket which sped out into space for 250 miles at 5000 miles an hour didn't burn up like a meteorite, as some had supposed. It fell back to earth, they say, and is buried somewhere beyond hope of recovery. So for a time longer we may postpone repeal of that "unshakable" natural law which says that what goes up must come down.

The theme of unity which Governor Dewey preached during the 1948 campaign seems destined to haunt him. Now Mr. Dewey, like his successful rival, Mr. Truman, is having plenty of trouble with a balky legislature controlled by his own party. Thus we see the victor and the vanquished trudging side by side down the thorny bipartisan path of partisan difficulties.

A sizzling fight over gasoline and soft drinks is heading toward a showdown in the general assembly at Harrisburg. Usually it's gasoline and hard drinks that lead to controversies.

WHOSE SON IS HE?

Text—"Dost thou believe on the Son of God?"—John 9.35.

What do we think of Christ? Whose Son is He? To some He is only the perfect Man who became Divine. To those who have seen the light of the Spirit, He is God who became Man. He is the Son of God and the Son of Man. True faith in Christ means repentance, dependence, and expectation. To believe in Christ is to receive Him. It enables the believer to say, "I know Him whom I have believed."

Men who refuse to believe in the Lord Jesus sometimes build their houses on the shaky foundation of good works. They think if they are good enough, God will take them to Heaven. However, what men call good works are not really good works at all, for nothing that unsaved men and women can do can please God.

God wants good works to be the walls and the roof of our lives. They cannot be the foundation for no one can actually do good works until he has been born again, that is, until he is on the foundation, Christ Jesus. After he is on the right foundation, God will show him how to make his life one which will be well pleasing to Him, for "we are His workmanship, created in Christ Jesus for good works, which God prepared beforehand, that we should do them." (Ephesians 2:10)

Our hope then is anchored in Jesus Christ, who is the Rock of Ages. And when our hope is built upon the Lord Jesus, the sure foundation and Rock, faith in Him will sustain us through all the vicissitudes of life. He gives to us eternal life. In Him we are safe for all eternity.

They also request council to return all parking meter fines levied against out-of-town motorists on February 22, a legal holiday.

A Police officer throughout the country have received notification from the National Safety Council to issue a warning to motorists to be on the lookout for children on the streets as milder weather and lengthening days keep more and more children out of doors past school hours. Traffic accidents in recent years annually have killed more youngsters one to 14 years old than any disease, according to the Safety Council. The coming of spring means that more youngsters will be out on bicycles, roller skates, wagons, scooters, etc., where they can get in the path of automobiles.

The March slogan is "Watch Out For Children." Speaking of children, we are receiving many complaints about youngsters running over lawns and cutting up yards by riding bicycles over them. Parents should warn offsprings about the damage that is caused by romping on lawns at this time of the year.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Filibuster on Debate Curbs Will Hasten End of Talkathons

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—A good, old-fashioned, knock-down, drag-out, all-out filibuster against changing Senate rules on limitation of debate is the finest thing that could happen at this time. The reason is that an unlimited debate on this proposed rule change now will show the country how utterly stupid this form of legislative sabotage really is.

From 1806 until just before World War I, there was no limitation on Senate debate. Then early in March, 1917, a filibuster defeated a bill to arm U. S. merchant ships. That showed what a vicious anachronism the filibuster really was. So after war was declared in April, 1917, Senate Rule 22 was passed. It authorized the closing of debate, or "cloture," on any bill, whenever approved by a two-thirds majority of the Senate.

In 1922 and again in 1948, however, presiding officers of the Senate decided that Rule 22 permitted limitation of debate only on "measures"—not on mere "motions" or other matters before the Senate.

Taking advantage of this situation, Southern Democrats last August were able to filibuster to death a motion to bring up President Truman's Civil Rights Program—anti-poll tax bill, anti-lynch law and so on. Republicans were in control of the Congress then.

THE Republicans of course lost control of the Senate in the 1948 elections. But the victorious Northern Democrats, of whom there are 33, are just as anxious as the 42 Republicans to have this limitation on debate on all matters. So what you have is this majority of 75 backing the minority of 21 Southern Democrats who want to preserve the right to unlimited debate on motions, via the filibuster.

The bipartisan Senate Resolution 15 introduced by Carl Hayden (D., Ariz.) and Kenneth S. Wherry (R., Neb.) would make this limitation of debate possible by five simple steps:

1. Sixteen senators would first have to sign a motion to bring to a close any debate on any subject whatsoever.
2. This motion would have to be voted on an hour after the Senate convened on the second day after the motion was filed.
3. If two-thirds of the senators present voted in favor of limitation before the Senate and would have to be acted on.
4. After this vote, no senator would be permitted to speak for more than one hour on the subject, and no amendment could be considered if it had not been previously introduced.
5. No delaying action would be in order and the presiding officer of the Senate (Vice President Barkley) would have full power to decide what was in order and what was out of order, without debate.

THE defense of the 21 senators who oppose this rule is that the filibuster is a protection for minority rights in a democracy. The Senate, it is claimed, is the last legislative body in the world where the right of unlimited debate remains. They think it ought to stay that way.

The question arises, however, whether any organization or any business can succeed if it can be hamstrung by one dissenting obstructionist or a minority of holdouts for special privilege.

A vast legislative program has been presented to Congress by the President. Not the least of the pending measures is reorganization of the federal government itself. But this general overhauling of the executive branch of the government is meaningless if the legislative arm of government is to be hog-tied by antiquated procedures.

That is why a filibuster against the proposal to end filibusters is a good thing at this time. The longer it lasts, the more impatient the voters back home should become. If these voters react in no uncertain terms to express their opposition to the filibuster and their support for limitation of debate, maybe the fannel-mouthed filibusters can be silenced forever.

The reaffirmed adherence of American Communist leaders to the Moscow Axis doesn't alter, but merely confirms, the party's attitude towards the U. S. government. They owe allegiance first to Russia.

There's really only one unusual thing about the statement issued on behalf of William Z. Foster, national committee chairman, and Eugene Dennis, general secretary. This is that both already are under federal charges of conspiracy to advocate forcible overthrow of the U. S. government.

Their declaration therefore shows daring and vast determination. Here's some typical interpretive comment from Washington: Senate Minority Leader Wherry (R-Neb.): "Communist allegiance has been to the Communist party, whether in war or peace."

Senator Pepper (D-Fla.): "If any citizen is proved to have given wartime aid and comfort to the enemy, he is guilty of treason under our constitution and should be dealt with accordingly."

Senator Russell (D-Ga.): "Communism and patriotism always have been incompatible."

President Truman, when asked at a news conference for comment on the statement of the Communist leaders, replied:

"I have no comment to make on such a statement by traitors."

The pronouncement by Foster and Dennis lines them up with the leaders of several European Communist parties who clearly have been acting in concert. Similar statements have been made by Maurice Thorez, secretary of the French Communist party; Palmiro Togliatti, Italian red leader; Harry Pollitt, general secretary of the British Communist party; and the German and the Austrian Communist parties.

Obviously should Russia, mother of communism, find herself at war, the Communists of all countries would be expected immediately to adopt the attitude best suited to serve Moscow's interests.

What started this avalanche of pledges to Moscow? There are various guesses. One is that it is calculated to counter the proposed north Atlantic alliance among the western nations. In any event it's propaganda which clearly could be directed to two ends:

1. To strike fear in the chancelleries of the western world.
2. To put the Communist parties of all countries on their toes to prepare for contingencies.

What contingencies? Well, Moscow keeps saying the western powers, led by America, are preparing to make war. Maybe the Russians believe that, though I doubt it.

H. Berger, grocer, and more recently by George O'Dell as a mens' furnishing establishment. The Warren high school faculty proved to be much too weak to defeat the fast and furious varsity team on the high school court, the students winning the hectic encounter 43 to 14. Luke Noecker brought down the house time after time when he would dash for the basket, but the varsity's close guarding prevented him from making the hoop. ## This And That

We learn from the latest issue of the Chautauqua Bell Tower that Alfred Valentini has completed his schedule of operas to be presented during the 1949 season, the productions to be The Pirates of Penzance, The Tales of Hoffman, Orpheus and Eurydice, The Barber of Seville, Mignon, and Don Giovanni.

... Hugh Thompson, who delighted the Jaycee concert series audience here this season, has promised to sing the Don Giovanni and will appear in one or two other parts. ... Parking spaces were at a premium Wednesday evening in practically every section of town, indicating what seemed to be a record turnout for the solemn Ash Wednesday services with which Warren churches began their observance of the Lenten season. ... Ken Fowler tells us he has had a letter from his brother, Bill, and wife, who recently went to Brazil, saying that they had the pleasure of meeting Laura Magno de Carvalho and were taken on a personally conducted tour of the capital city, Rio de Janeiro.

Dave Potter, manager of Station WVAE, has had a letter from Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, expressing his personal appreciation for the part played by the broadcasting industry in promotion of the 1949 March of Dimes. He indicated that this year's campaign "had to be a success" and because the industry throughout the country gave so heartily and generously of its time, the National Foundation will be able to continue the necessary care for all children who were attacked by the cripple last year. ....

How Can Girl Meet More Men? Maybe That's Wrong Question

BY RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

"How can I meet more men?" a 25-year-old stenographer writes me. She says she left her small home town a year ago to go to work in a city.

Because her question is asked so often by girls who have reached marrying age without any definite prospects of marriage I am answering it in print.

Or, rather, I'm going to point out that I think those girls are asking the wrong question. The secret of getting married isn't usually in managing to meet more men—unless a girl just doesn't know any eligible men at all.

For most girls, the secret of how to find a husband lies in seeing husband material in the men she already knows.

Let's talk about Mary B. for a minute. Mary knows half a dozen young men who have asked her for dates in the last few months.

Two she turned down without giving them a chance. One because he hasn't had as good an education as she. The other because he isn't tall enough to meet her specifications.

Of the four she has dated, there isn't one who doesn't have something wrong with him, according to Mary. She thinks one is "conceited." She doesn't believe another will ever "amount to anything." One is 10 years older than she, which Mary promptly decided was too much difference in age. And the fourth has been divorced, so Mary—although attracted to him—is sure that if he has had one marriage failure he's a bad bet matrimonially.

PROSPECTS GONE BY THE BOARD

NOW while Mary is sitting around wishing she knew how to meet more men, she is going to let six prospects get away without ever giving herself time to find out whether she could love one of them or not.

Probably all six of the young men will eventually find wives. Mary may even feel a pang of regret some day if she happens to meet up with one of them happily married to a girl who saw his possibilities and overlooked his shortcomings.

For that's the real trouble with most girls who are forever wishing they could meet more men. They are supercritical. They must realize that they aren't perfect themselves, yet they are holding out for a husband who measures up to a list of ready-made qualifications which they carry around in their minds.

Girls like that often end up by never marrying at all, or after letting their best marrying years slip by, marrying a man not even in a class with some of the men who weren't good enough for them five to 10 years earlier.

F1 Hybrid Flowers Now Winning Garden Awards

Here's a new term for the amateur gardener to learn. It's "F1 hybrid" and it's the plant breeder's prophet coming true. It will soon be as common in gardening conversation as D.D.T. and 2,4-D are now.

It means "first generation hybrid," and has become important because of the growing number of F1 hybrid varieties of both vegetables and flowers which are being offered by seedsmen. Petunia Silver Medal, top award winner in the All America trials for 1949, is an F1 hybrid. So is Petunia Pink Sensation, last year's bronze medal winner. All hybrid corn varieties grown in this country are F1 hybrids, and there are tomatoes, cucumbers, squash and egg plant varieties of this class.

To produce an F1 hybrid you take two parents, each having merits which you wish to combine. The parents must belong to well-fixed strains, pure bred, and in the case of plants, inbred. When two such parents are crossed, the first generation seed will produce a crop which is uniform, combining the qualities of both parents, and endowed with a mystic quality called "hybrid vigor," which makes it grow faster, stronger, larger and yield more vigorously than others.

But beware of sowing the seed borne by an F1 hybrid plant, that is unless you are an experimenter, seeking something new. The second generation will be a badly mixed as the first was uniform in size, shape and color. Breeders look for new varieties in the F2 hybrids, but they will usually be a disappointment to others.

The originator of an F1 hybrid which proves to be popular, has a monopoly of the seed production, since it requires the inbred parent which he has developed, and which others cannot duplicate. But there is nothing to prevent other breeders from developing their own parents, and breeding their own F1 hybrids, which may win popular favor.

That is what has taken place

with breeders of hybrid corn, and may be expected to develop with F1 hybrid flowers and vegetables, much to the profit of gardeners in general.

Breeding an F1 flower is costly business. In the illustration, the girl is seated before a petunia plant of an inbred variety chosen to be the seed-bearing parent of Petunia Silver Medal. Every flower on this plant has had its petals trimmed, and the pollen-bearing organs removed, so it cannot self-fertilize. In the girl's hand is a flower from the pollen parent, pulled off the row behind her. With a small paint brush she takes pollen from this flower, then transfers it to the stigma of a seed-bearing flower on the plant before her. This operation must be repeated thousands of times, to produce a seed crop of a true F1 hybrid. At post-war wages, it makes an expensive crop.

Many Routine Calls Handled By The Police

Two automobile accidents involving an estimated $200 in damage and the usual number of routine calls were responsible for police activity over the week end.

One of the accidents took place Friday evening at 6:15 o'clock when cars operated by Anne Irene McDonald, 713 Conewango avenue, and Guy H. Wenker, of Sheffield, collided on Pennsylvania avenue, east, at Elm street. According to the police report, the McDonald car was pulling out from the curb into traffic when it was struck by the Sheffield car which was proceeding west. Damage to the McDonald car was estimated at $30 and to the Sheffield car about $50. There were no arrests.

The second accident took place at 10 o'clock yesterday morning in the 1500 block of Pennsylvania avenue, west, when a car owned by Ralph B. Waldron, 1311 Pennsylvania avenue, west, and parked at the curb, was struck by a car operated by A. R. Painter, of Knox. Damage to the Waldron car was estimated at $150 and to the Painter car, about $50. There were no arrests.

Three drunks were picked up and given the usual treatment by Justice Greenlund. Four unlocked doors were found last evening.

A little excitement was created on Saturday afternoon when a mother who was attempting to telephone her daughter, residing on Franklin street, became alarmed when no answer was received. She called police to report that her daughter might be overcome by a burglar. When officers investigated, they found the daughter asleep on theavenport because she had been up the previous night with a sick child.

A local mother, who left her child in one room while she went to another close by, was picked up by police and taken to the station where she was given a severe lecture for her conduct.

A family battle on the South Side Saturday evening was quelled by police in the course of their duties.

Otherwise officers spent a quiet and uneventful week end.

New Demands For Reduction In Milk Price

(From Page One)
D. Brandon suggested that the additional cut be born entirely by the dealers. "Farmers will have to absorb 80 per cent of the cut that's been ordered," Brandon said. "The dealers ought to absorb another half cent cut."

The tentative order proposed by the commission over the week-end will be made final until the commission studies the testimony taken at today's hearing. The new order would also reduce the producer price for class one milk from $6.03 a hundredweight (46 1/2 quarts), to $5.43. Prices would return to present levels Sept. 1.

Metzger-Wright's Plan 53rd Annual Opening

A tradition in Warren, Metzger-Wright's fifty-third spring opening, will take place Thursday evening at 7:30 when the entire community is invited to spend the evening at the store, wandering from floor to floor, inspecting the new fashions for spring, 1949, for the family and for the home. Each department holds its interest for some member of the family from the youngest to the eldest, from the basement appliance department to the fourth floor teen's and girls' department and the housewares departments. No merchandise is on sale this evening, one may look as one wishes, and listen to the melody of the Chord Cadets, one of the Barbershop Quartets, composed of James Cruickshank, Earl Erickson, Boyd Sanden and Roger Hendrickson.

WHISTLE-TOOTERS ELECT

Harry Tourtelotte, of Warren, was elected president of the Warren Chapter of the FIAA Basketball Officials Association at a meet in the YMCA Saturday. Other officers named were Joe Massa, vice president, and Joe Waples, secretary - treasurer. Preliminary plans were discussed for a basketball clinic the local chapter plans to sponsor at Beatty gym next November.

CLOSING BRANCH

Titusville Herald: Commencing today residents of Hydetsville and vicinity will be without the service of a local feed mill. The G. L. F. service store there has been consolidated with the Titusville mill as the result of a decision reached on Feb. 21. All business of the Hydetsville branch will be transferred to the Titusville mill. The reason for the change, given by Olney Harkness, Titusville manager, is that extensive alterations recently completed at the Titusville plant make it more economical to operate the two places as a single unit. Improvements were made on the warehouse and up-to-date machinery for grinding and mixing has been installed. Mr. Harkness emphasized that there has been no falling off in business, on the contrary, he said, it has been steadily increasing for some time.

estimated to raise $443,000,000 in the next two years. However, the House inserted an amendment cutting an estimated $5,000,000 from the soft drink tax, reducing its take from $27,000,000 to $22,000,000.

The amendment exempted simple syrup (water and sugar mixtures) cordials, carbonated water and cider from the half cent an ounce tax on syrups used for fountain drinks and penny tax on each 12 ounces of bottled soft drinks.

The penny soft drink tax has been fought stubbornly by bottlers since it was first enacted in 1947. A court suit challenging its constitutionality is pending in the Dauphin county court.

Market Quotations

New York, March 7—(P)—Stocks edged a little higher today in a quiet market although some of the leading issues lagged behind. As a group the rails were the most active and made the most substantial gains, although the markup in prices was in fractions for the most part. Other groups were mixed with plus signs predominating. Chemicals and rubbers, however, dipped a trifle. A number of blocks were trading at the opening including 1,000 Du Pont off 1/4, 1,000 U. S. Steel off 1/4, 1,500 Radio, 1,300 International Telephone & Telegraph, 1,500 Trin-Continental Corp., and 1,300 New York Central, all up 1/4. Stocks moving higher included Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Great Northern preferred, Southern Pacific, Sinclair Oil, Texas Co., Bethlehem, Anaconda, American Smelting, American Woolen, Pan American Airways, and United Airline.

Brookville Wins, 49-40, Despite Gallant Comeback By Dragons

Brookville Red Raiders, challengers for the PIAA District 9 Class A championship, downed the Warren Dragon basketballs, 49 to 40, in a post-season scrap on the Beatty floor Friday night.

The game was sponsored by the Warren Sports Boosters Association as a benefit for the War Memorial Athletic Field. Sports Boosters officers announced receipts from 723 adult and student tickets sold were $586.50. This added to $15.16 from candy sales boosted the total receipts to $601.66. Expenses—Brookville guarantees, game officials and amusement tax—totalled $182.75, leaving a net balance of $418.91 for the War Memorial fund.

The game put the finishing touches on the 1948-49 cage season for the Dragons, with a record of 20 wins and seven reverses. Brookville has won 20 games and lost three, and will meet Bradford at Kane on March 15 for the District 9 crown.

The 49-40 score tells the winner of the game, but gives no indication of one of the gamiest comebacks seen here in several seasons.

The Red Raiders were red-hot during the first half, and quickly shot into a commanding lead. By the end of the first period, Brookville had racked up 20 points on nine field goals and two free throws, while the Massmen were credited with a slim four points on one basket and two charity tosses.

The Raiders slowed down to eight points in the second stanza, but the Dragons were only able to add five more units to their meager total. This made the score at intermission, 29 to 9, in favor of Brookville.

Then came the gallant comeback try on the part of the Blue and White, with the veterans, Gail Nelson and Ted Shattuck, leading the way. Doggedly the Dragons kept whittling away at the Raiders' big margin of safety. Third period firing saw Warren gain 19 points while Brookville got only 10, making the score at the three-quarters flag, 38 to 28, in favor of the visitors.

Larry McManigle, Brookville pivot, opened fourth-period scoring with a free throw, 39-28, and Dick tride too long. In the closing minute, Emerick laid up his sixth basket for Brookville to make it 45-39. Bob Brumagin ended Warren's scoring with a free throw, 45-40. And before time expired, Warner and McManigle had scored buckets for Brookville in sleep-er plays.

Youths Are Running Too Fast For Their Age, Says Venzke

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Gene Venzke was talking track in general, and milers in particular.

"I don't like to see a young boy running so fast," said the former Penn track man, in reference to the 4:09.5 performance of Wisconsin's Don Gehrman in the New York Milrose games, plus the reportedly lower practice efforts of the 21-year-old Badger.

The slim Wisconsin Junior, you recall, came from behind to clip Holland's Willy Slykuis right at the wire.

"It takes too much out of a fellow until he is fully matured. The necessary stamina comes with age," said the Reading, Pa., driving range owner who's running form was a paragon of style.

It is recalled that the hard-working Venzke quit high school after two years, and was an accomplished toolmaker by trade when years later, a self-made man, he entered Pennsylvania in pursuit of higher education and Glenn Cunningham.

"That is why, at 24, I was able to run 4:10 and then come back at 32 to run 4:08, explained Gene. "I wasn't worked hard at an early age."

"I doubt if I'll let my boy run in high school when he grows up," says the stylish runner who loomed the indoor mile standard down to an unheard 4:10 in 1932.

"He must first have the inclination to run, of course. Right now, he would rather hit golf balls, and it's up to him to make the choice," pointed out Venzke.

MEANWHILE, Don Gehrman is pointing to the defense of his Banker Mile laurels, March 19, in Chicago.

The Milwaukee native doubled for valuable points in winning efforts against Northwestern and Marquette. A three-point margin over Minnesota was mainly due to the performances of Gehrman in the mile and half-mile, plus a sparkling 49-second anchor leg on the Badger relay team. The latter points clinched the meet.

The latest Wisconsin miler is highly regarded by former Badger standouts, Chuck Fenske and Walter Mehl, an assistant dean at the school, who encourage him in daily workouts.

Assistant coach Riley Best emphasizes that both Mehl and Fenske did their big time running chores after graduation.

Undoubtedly the decision to keep Gehrman competing in his own class, with just a fling or two a year in top-flight competition, is a wise one, as the experienced Venzke emphasized.

And the steadily improving youngster will not get distorted ideas as to the values of collegiate competition. Which is as it should be.

Race Issue Comes Up At The A. B. C.

Atlantic City, N. J., March 7—(P)—Organizations opposed to the American Bowling Congress race restriction competition to white men were to place their protests before a special ABC committee today.

The hearing was scheduled behind closed doors. The ABC tournament, now in its 24th day, takes a back seat in general interest until Friday. On that day, some 700 delegates to the ABC's convention will vote for a third straight year on the question of allowing Negroes, Chinese, Japanese and Indians to participate in the congress.

Led by Arthur Chapin of Newark, CIO Civil Rights director for New Jersey, representatives of at least five organizations were to appear with Lester C. Baston of Tulsa, Okla., president of the ABC, and ten other officers and directors of the congress at 3:30 p. m.

The track season will get under way during the last two weeks infield was flooded several times.

Camp Roundup

By The Associated Press

New York, March 7—(P)—Bill Veck, colorful president of the Cleveland Indians, is encountering more difficulty than expected in getting some key members of his World Championship combine in the fold. The "Mickey" game winners Gene Bearden and Bill Lamson and Second Sacker Joe Gordon still are dissatisfied over terms offered by Sportsman Bill. Also listed as hold-outs are infielder Johnny Berardino and Catcher Hank Ruuskowski.

Ted Williams and Stan Spence, Boston Red Sox outfielders came to terms yesterday. Williams okayed a contract reportedly calling for $100,000.

Mike Guerra, Cuba, catcher of the Philadelphia Athletics, hasn't showed at the A's camp and Manager Connie Mack is peeved.

Poston refused to pass on Guerra last week. "Mack said 'maybe they'll claim him again,'" he added. However, Mack didn't say he placed Guerra's name on the waiver list. "Gran Hamner is off to a great start in his bid to take the shortstop berth away from his Philadelphia Phillie teammate, Eddie Miller. Hamner belted out a homer, double, and three singles and drove in five runs in an intrasquad game yesterday.

Pittsburgh Pirate Manager Bill Meyer is giving plenty of attention to the Rookie Pitcher Bill Lathrop who won 20 and lost 8 for Santa Rosa last year. Meyer also likes the work of Bill Werle, up from San Francisco. "Auggie Gaian, veteran outfielder signed as a free agent by the New York Giants, demonstrated he still can hit. Galan belted a two-run pinch hit single in the Giants' first intra-squad game yesterday. New York Yankee Manager Casey Stengel feels certain that Fred Sanford, secured from the St. Louis Browns for $100,000 will win 15 games easy.

One old English recipe for a banquet pie called for 18 sparrows, eight marrow bones one pound of potatoes, lettuce, chestnuts, dates, oysters, artichokes, eggs, spice, and "liquor when it is baked, with white wine, butter and sugar."

Flaked cooked fish may be teamed with green peas and white sauce for a Sunday night supper dish; add a little lemon juice and scrod onion to the sauce for extra-good flavor.

To demonstrate the principle of atomic energy for the layman, scientists have built an "atomic motor." Seven copper spheres, mounted on a plastic sheet, are driven by the 200,000-volt charge of a model atom smasher. The wheel spins at speeds up to 100 revolutions per minute.

Hal Boyle's Column

By GEORGE TUCKER

New York—(AP)—Some men left their war in the Pacific, but radio star Lanny Ross brought his back as a souvenir.

What made a hit with the Navy in 1943 ought to be good for the public in 1949, he reasoned.

So he said to Cecil Abel, the missionary at Kwato, New Guinea: "Cecil, I'd like to have you on my program some time. That is, if we ever get back."

Cecil Abel is a 46-year-old Anglo-Papuan whose idea of running a mission is unorthodox. He doesn't know what denomination he is supposed to be. His idea of saving souls isn't just teaching the natives to sing hymns on Sunday, and going to church.

"We don't bother about forcing the native beliefs into civilized weathers and slacks," he says. "I guess you'd say our job is to straighten out their thinking."

So the war passed, and one day not long ago Cecil Abel came to the United States.

"I suppose you could say some of my dear friends are cannibals," said Cecil. "A cannibal who doesn't eat you is unexpressibly dear."

"They're still operating?"

"Well, back in the mountains. I remember an old lady they killed in 1940. They offered me a taste. Long pig, they called it. I can tell you, people are mighty good eaters."

"Oh, of course, I haven't eaten any myself. But I've eaten lots of dugong, that's seacow. A chief once told me there was absolutely no difference in the taste of people and dugong. Maybe dugong was a little tenderer."

"As for head hunters—a quick way to make a head hunter mad is to call him a cannibal. They abhor human flesh. They only decapitate you. The cannibals are sort of looked down on by the head hunters."

The Kwato mission was started 60 years ago by Abel's father, who survived head hunters for 40 years and went home to England, only to be killed in an automobile accident.

"I remember my father holding me up when I was a little lad. He was showing me to the cannibals and he cried, 'Here's the young man who'll head this mission when I'm gone. You wouldn't eat him would you, if you had the chance?'"

A wrinkled old warrior grinned toothlessly and said, "We have the chance."

Abel explained the early code of the true cannibal like this:

"They ate each other for economic reasons. When one tribe fought another tribe, the winners ate the losers. They had very few post-war problems."

The reason Abel came to this country was to get corn and rice seed.

"I went to Iowa and saw their beautiful corn. I thought how lucky I was to find such seed. But they asked me how much rainfall we had. I told them 230 inches. 'Good gracious,' the Iowans cried. 'This seed is only conditioned for 40 inches. You'll have to go to Guatemala!'"

So he did.

Chapter 21

THE waterway was as Don Fernando had described. A sluggish stream, more like a backwater of the river than a separate entity. Alligators lay along the shore, or moved like reluctant logs stirring to life at their approach. Birds thronged the trees, waterfowl clustered on the lake.

A native pilot went with them, for there was plenty of water, but there were shoals and snags for the unwary. At the edge of the lake, almost invisible from where the ship passed, something caught Rivers' eye. He surveyed it through the glass with mounting interest.

Half-hidden by vegetation, partly in the mud and water, was the remains of a big boat. The pilot explained its history.

"It was French," he grinned. "A longboat, with a twelve-pounder in it. They sneaked up here, figgerin' to teach us a lesson for the disrespectful way we treated 'em. The surprise was on the other foot. She's been layin' there wrecked for near a year. The gun's still there, just above the waterline—you can see the sun on it."

Donna Dolores approached, and shivered as she looked about at the encircling woods.

"With you, I am happy to be here," she said. "But otherwise I do not like it. Fernando. It is so lonely. Like—like as if one was going into a trap. You can almost see it closing behind."

That was too apt a description for comfort. And Don Fernando, he knew, would have no scruples if it suited his plans. Yet he had brought the Gray Countess in here ahead of them. If they could go in, they could come out again.

DUSK was upon the land when they sighted the Countess at anchor. There was a long, log warehouse, with other buildings clustered about. Overflowing and spilling out around them was produce—aromatic, not particularly friendly to untrained nostrils, but representing a fortune left to rot unless it could soon be moved.

They spent the night on board, but were stirring an hour before dawn. Rivers being mindful of getting out of town before anyone should be abroad to wonder at his appearance. Birds were singing, and there was the sound of a rooster crowing—a familiar sound which seemed somehow out of place, back in here.

The wagon was waiting, with a good looking team hitched to it. A Dutch wagon, well-built for such all but roadless lands. They journeyed past occasional cabins where settlers greeted them with a frank and friendly interest.

Not the least pleasant part was cooking their meals over an open fire. At which task Donna Dolores proved surprisingly adept.

"Do you not think that I would make a good pioneer?" she asked. "Oh, I like this country—I would like to be one of these people to tame it."

It was mid-afternoon of the second day when they reached Great Neck. Here was more produce—dried beaver paws, tobacco.

JOHN SWEENEY, a wiry little man with a reddish beard, insisted that they make themselves at home in his house. There would be no trouble about supplies, he assured them.

"And if you could arrange for a second trip, later on, there will be plenty more," he assured them. "But I doubt that, eh?"

"It might be done," Rivers agreed. "But that's a bridge we'll cross when we come to it."

"Sure, and that's sensible. And it may be out of the way before that day comes, eh?"

"How do you mean?"

"There's exciting news, these days. And I can tell you that there's more than news that travels the Wilderness Road these days. We don't intend to sit here and see ourselves runned. If the government can't or won't, do anything to help us, we'll do it ourselves."

That would mean the hot-blooded men of Kentucky, on the march, Rivers guessed. He had heard rumors before.

"I don't blame you," he conceded. "But maybe more is being done at Washington than you know about."

Sweeney shook his head distrustfully.

"Maybe, but I doubt it. I've small faith in these Republicans, being a Federalist myself. I do have it that the President, Mr. Jefferson, believes that this country out this way will some day amount to something. But he's one of the few in Washington that think that way. Most of them say it's a forsaken land. They're wrong."

They spent a day in arranging for goods to be brought down to the ships, then started back. This was an interlude which Rivers would have liked to prolong.

Soon he would have to tell Donna Dolores the truth about himself. And other events were on the march.

It was dusk when they came back to the warehouse. Rivers had timed their arrival so that he would not be conspicuous. Now his glance sharpened in the fading light, and he drove the remaining distance at a faster pace.

It was Donna Dolores who voiced the question, with a faint echo of the dismay which had so suddenly come to him, in her voice.

"The ships! Where are they? Fernando? They're gone!"
